

COAL MINES FIRED BY MEN WHO QUIT.

STRIKERS IN HOCKING VALLEY
USE THE TORCH.

The incendiary tactics that spread terror in the Ohio mining region in 1884 adopted—situation in Collieries in Illinois—The Outlook One of Danger.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 24.—The torch of the incendiary is at work in the strike region of the Hocking Valley, and the terrible scenes of 1884 may be repeated in that once famous section. Yesterday at Nelsonville miners discovered the Monday mine on fire. The flames were started near the mouth, and all efforts to quench the blaze have so far been unsuccessful. Those familiar with the situation say that there is a possibility of the fire extending to the Brush Creek mines, and in that event the loss would run up into many thousands of dollars. It was the work of strikers. The fire recalls similar incidents of incendiary, and especially the burning of a hopper guarded by Pinkerton detectives during the big strike in '84. It was claimed at that time that the hopper was fired by the detectives to keep up the excitement.

President John McBride of the mine workers is feeling much encouraged over the situation pertaining to the great strike. His mail was heavy with letters from leaders in all the great coal fields bringing information that the suspension is rapidly becoming more general and the outlook more flattering for the success of the strike. President McBride says there is no foundation for the story that the strike will be lost because the miners are starving and the organization has no strike fund on hand. He says that nine out of ten of the miners' strikes in this country have been won without money. The great Hocking Valley strike of 1884-'85, which lasted ten months and in which 7,000 miners were engaged, was a moneyless strike. The organization did not at that time have even enough funds in its treasury to pay the salary of its officers.

Mr. McBride summed up the situation in the present struggle as follows:

"Maryland miners will hold a general mass meeting next Thursday to determine whether to join in the suspension in a body. Southern Iowa is out, but a general stoppage will not occur until after the state convention of miners to be held at Albia May 2. Every mine in the Indian territory has suspended. Reports from the New and Kanawha rivers in West Virginia indicate many out and an early suspension all along the line. The district convention will be held at Charleston Tuesday. Wheeling and Moundsville have been offered the increase demanded, but have been notified not to go to work until a general settlement has been made. The Indiana block coal miners will join the strike May 1. Latest reports indicate the following number of mine workers idle: Alabama, 8,000; Tennessee and Kentucky, 5,000; West Virginia, 2,000; Indiana, 5,000; Ohio, 36,000; Illinois, 2,500; Iowa, 1,300; Indian Territory, 2,000; Missouri, 1,300; Pennsylvania, 50,000; Michigan, 300. Total, 125,000."

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 24.—There is little change in the coal miners' strike. The 1,200 diggers at the mines of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal company on the Pennsylvania railroad came out. This the miners' official claim assures them of victory, as this district was a pivotal point. The strike may now be said to be perfect. Every mine of any consequence is closed and nearly 18,000 men are idle in the immediate vicinity of Pittsburgh.

BRAZIL, Ind., April 24.—The mining situation in the block coal fields is growing interesting. Yesterday block coal operators issued a letter to their employees asking them to meet with them in this city Wednesday for the purpose of arranging a scale for labor after May 1. It is possible the block coal miners will refuse to join the strikers at all. The bituminous miners have issued circulars to the block men imploring them to join the strike, bury all past differences and assist the cause.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 24.—Work is going on as usual in the Belleville mines, but there are 1,000 men out in the Mobile & Cincinnati.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 24.—The miners in Whitley and Laurel counties of the southeastern district have joined the strike. Three hundred and fifty miners in Knox county are supposed to have been affected.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 24.—The delegate convention of cokerworkers at Scottsdale yesterday passed resolutions ordering the entire region out to join the national strike of coal miners. The leaders here confidently assert that within two days all the miners of the region will be out.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., April 24.—The Clearfield company miners have successfully appealed to the reluctant miners in the Huntington and Broad top region to join in the strike. This includes all miners in the Sandy Run, Six-Mile Run, and Shoup's Run branches, numbering over 500 men.

ILLINOIS CONVENTION OF MINERS

It Meets at Springfield to Discuss the Strike—Many Men Go Out.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 24.—The annual state convention of the United Mine Workers of Illinois will meet here to-day and will be in session two days. The pending strike and the question of taking independent political action as an organization will be discussed. The convention will be followed Thursday by a general convention of the organized and unorganized miners of the state to consider the strike situation. There is only one mine at work here, and the miners there are expected to go out soon.

MURPHYSBORO, Ill., April 24.—Every coal mine in the neighborhood of Murphysboro has closed down and not a ton of coal is being lifted. Merchants who have been holding up the miners all winter say they can do so no longer, and what the miners will do for supplies when what little they have on hand is exhausted can only be surmised.

PEORIA, Ill., April 24.—Miners here struck Saturday, but are not thoroughly satisfied. After considering the question they decided to return to work in a week unless there was some prospect of ultimate success. The men along the Peoria and Pekin Union are considering joining the present strike and may go out this morning.

PANA, Ill., April 24.—Pursuant to the order of the United Mine Workers, 300 coal miners went out yesterday, and it is possible that more will follow soon.

MASCOUTAH, Ill., April 24.—The coal miners in this district returned to work as usual yesterday. It is not likely that the men will become involved in the general strike.

LA SALLE, Ill., April 24.—An army of miners from Spring Valley, Laceyville, Ladd, and Seatonville marched to La Salle before daylight yesterday morning to prevent the miners here from going to work. Men arriving at the shafts were told to go home, and if they refused were roughly used and beaten. The men held a mass meeting in the city park and decided to force the miners at Toluca to quit work.

CARTERSVILLE, Ill., April 24.—A committee of strikers from other places has been here trying to get the miners to join the general strike. The men refused to strike. At 9 o'clock last night the powder house of the St. Louis and Big Muddy Coal company, containing 800 kegs of powder, was blown up. No damage except loss of powder. The people of this place consider this a great outrage and charge it upon the strikers or their representatives from other districts.

DECATUR, Ill., April 24.—The 325 miners in the Decatur coal mines are at work, with no talk yet of going out.

DANVILLE, Ill., April 24.—None of the Consolidated coal company miners went to work yesterday.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., April 24.—All the miners west of Sewell, east of Thurmond, and all Kanawha river mines are running. They anticipate no strike in Kanawha. At the Camden mines the Ohio miners, 200 strong, crossed over the river and took out forcibly the men at work there.

HILL AND DEBS FOR ARBITRATION

If the Union's Committee Agrees Great Northern Strike Will End.

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 24.—Gov. Knute Nelson seems about to become the intermediary through whom the Great Northern strike will be brought to an end. President Hill of the company called on the governor last week, supposedly on matters relating to the strike, and early yesterday President Debs and Vice-President Howard of the American Railway union called at the capitol and were for some time closeted with the governor. In the afternoon Gov. Nelson sent a letter to President Hill calling his attention to the suffering to business and otherwise being caused by the strike, and urging that he agree to have the matters in dispute arbitrated. Mr. Hill promptly replied agreeing to the proposition and suggesting that the company would name one arbitrator, the employees or their representatives to select a second, and those two to select the third. In the event of their inability to agree on a man the decision to be made by Judges Nelson and Thomas of the United States court. It is thought the men will at once agree to this.

Everything was quiet yesterday at Wilmar, where the conflict occurred Saturday between the United States marshal and strikers. Passenger trains arrived from the east, west, and south, and were allowed to depart without interference. The mail train from Sioux Falls is still at Wilmar, the officials being unable to secure any brakeman to go out with it. No attempts have been made to move freight of any kind. Several deputy United States marshals are still there.

HELENA, Mont., April 24.—Judge Knowles of the United States District court has set April 30 for the hearing of an application for an injunction restraining striking Great Northern trainmen from interfering with the road in any way. Discussing the proposed injunction James Hogan, a director of the American Railway union, who ordered the strike, said: "This injunction will have no effect on this strike, but may cause every road in the country to be tied up. At present the men are not fighting the Great Northern road but the General Managers' association of the United States, representing all roads. If it is fair for the members of the General Managers' association to assist each other, as they are doing, it is fair that the men on all roads should assist each other. There are now four Pacific transcontinental lines clamoring for word to go out on a strike, and bear it well in mind that these men will have something to say about the conditions under which they are to work."

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 24.—Work is going on as usual in the Belleville mines, but there are 1,000 men out in the Mobile & Cincinnati.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 24.—The miners in Whitley and Laurel counties of the southeastern district have joined the strike. Three hundred and fifty miners in Knox county are supposed to have been affected.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 24.—The delegate convention of cokerworkers at Scottsdale yesterday passed resolutions ordering the entire region out to join the national strike of coal miners. The leaders here confidently assert that within two days all the miners of the region will be out.

HUNTINGTON, Pa., April 24.—The Clearfield company miners have successfully appealed to the reluctant miners in the Huntington and Broad top region to join in the strike. This includes all miners in the Sandy Run, Six-Mile Run, and Shoup's Run branches, numbering over 500 men.

WASHBURN'S TURN TO TALK TARIFF.

MINNESOTA SENATOR AT-TACKS WILSON BILL

In a Bitter Two Hours' Speech He Assails Every Feature of the Measure—Other News From the National Capital—Railway Cases Have a Hearing.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—In the senate yesterday Mr. Peffer introduced by request a bill "to dispose of idle labor and discourage idle wealth in the District of Columbia." It embodies the principle of taxation of unearned increment, the proceeds to be applied to the employment of idle labor.

Mr. Peffer then sought to take up his resolution for the appointment of a communication to receive petitions from Coxey's army, but his motion was defeated by a vote of 17—republicans, 12; populists, 4; democrats 1) to 27 (democrats, 21; republicans, 6).

The bill for the protection of game in Yellowstone park passed and the tariff bill was taken up. Senator Washburn of Minnesota addressed the senate in opposition to the bill.

Senator Washburn said the people of his state were only to a limited extent direct beneficiaries of the protective system, although they had learned that the well-paid laborers of the east were better consumers of their products than the poorly paid laborers of Europe. The present bill, he declared, in its effect on eastern manufacturers would be disastrous to that market. The worst blow to the farmers of the northwest, however, was contained in the clause repealing the reciprocity treaties. He predicted that the American people would resent their abrogation. He declared that the only increase in our trade during the last year of hard times was with the reciprocity countries, while there had been a falling off in other countries.

"No government," he said in conclusion, "ever threw away a greater opportunity to promote its foreign trade and secure commercial advantages for its citizens than is being sacrificed by the pending bill. Not only are the reciprocity treaties that were made by the last administration to be absolutely and peremptorily revoked without consulting the rights and wishes of the other parties to the agreements, but the duties upon a long list of imported merchandise are to be removed and reduced without even giving the countries which will enjoy the benefits a chance to offer us some concessions in return."

Senator Dolph followed with another installment of his speech.

Promptly at 5 o'clock Senator Quay called attention to the fact that the hour of closing the tariff debate had arrived, and some discussion as to the intent of the agreement ensued. Senator Gray for the democrats maintaining that it was not intended to shut off the tariff debate at 5 o'clock, but to prevent any other business from coming in between 1 and 5 o'clock. The republicans declined to go on, and after an executive session the senate adjourned.

Tariff Bill Changes Discussed.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The conference begun last week of democratic senators on the tariff was continued in the room of the senate committee on appropriations yesterday. It was decided, among other things, to summon absent democratic senators so as to have them here by tomorrow, when the bill is to be taken up by paragraphs, to support the finance committee in any effort it may make to crowd the bill toward its passage. They agreed to begin this work by trying to get an extension of the daily hours for debate, and authorized Senator Harris to ask Wednesday for the continuation of debate until 6 o'clock each day, instead of 5 o'clock.

When Senator Aldrich was asked what course the republican senators would pursue when the democrats should move to secure an extension of the present hour he said that they would resist.

Jerry Simpson May Die.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The illness of Representative Simpson of Kansas has assumed an alarming phase.

Mackay Says It Is False.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The report that a reconciliation had been reached between Princess Colonna and her husband has caused no end of talk here, and the assertion by John W. Mackay that the story is untrue has not produced a cessation of gossip. Mr. Mackay was seen last night and when asked concerning the accuracy of the story of reconciliation he said it was absolutely false. The princess is soon going to England.

Indiana Apportionment Act Stands.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 24.—In deciding the complaint of A. W. Wishard to set aside the legislative apportionment in Indiana of 1893 Judge Brown of the Circuit court sustained the demurrer of the state, holding that it was not within the jurisdiction of the court to review the action of the legislature.

Handits Rob a Church.

ZACATECAS, Mexico, April 24.—The Catholic cathedral at Banon, fifty miles north of here, was entered by a band of robbers and all of the silver and gold church ornaments stolen.

COXEYITES STOLE A TRAIN AT BUTTE

LEFT FOR THE EAST FORTY MILES AN HOUR.

Kelly's Command on its Way Through Iowa—Reception Not so Enthusiastic as at Neola—Proclamation Issued By the Washington Authorities.

BUTLER MOUNTAIN, April 24.—[Special].—Coxeyites stole an engine and train last night and went east at the rate of forty miles an hour.

WALNUT, Iowa, April 24.—[Special].—Kelly's army reached here at noon, and everything was quiet. The army left Neola at 10 o'clock yesterday morning diminished in strength by thirty men and arrived at Avoca at 5 o'clock as strong as ever. There was a mutiny, but the men who withdrew rejoined the army at the first stop. For a time it looked as if the beginning of the end had come for the industrial army. But now they seem to be as united and determined as ever.

The reception at Avoca was an entirely different affair from that at Neola. There was not the enthusiasm, and the mayor informed Gen. Kelly and his various captains that the men must remain where they were camped during the night with the exception of a few of the officers and members of the commissary department, who would be permitted to come into the business center of the town and make arrangements for supplies. It is expected that Gen. Kelly will order his army to move not later than 9 o'clock in the morning. Atlantic will be the next stopping place.

The army passed within two and a half miles of the town of Shelby, where it had been intended to hold a reception. Forty or fifty residents of the place walked out to intercept Gen. Kelly and presented him with a hot luncheon. They also made a few speeches in the usual vein and bade him godspeed. This was the only demonstration of the day.

Yesterday both the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul and the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific railroads began running trains through Council Bluffs. The Rock Island had made up its mind to do so during the night, as the feeling against it at Council Bluffs had subsided to a large degree and no fear of raiding on the part of the army existed. It is hinted that Pottawattamie county will soon be made the defendant in a damage suit for at least $30,000, brought by one or both of the roads which stopped the through service between Chicago and the Missouri river.

ATLANTIC TO WELCOME THE ARMY.

Kelly's Band Probably Will Do Its Week's Washing at That Town.

ATLANTIC, Iowa, April 24.—Now that Gen. Kelly and his army have started on their march across the state some of the citizens of Iowa are beginning to ask what will be the result of the receptions that have been tendered the army by the people along the way. The receptions do not come from the unemployed of the cities, but from the dwellers in the towns, and the farmers and even women visit the camps and distribute magazines and periodicals among the men, besides carrying them clothing and provisions. Another spirit which has developed borders upon the alarming. The hanging of Judge Hubbard in effigy at Neola by citizens has an ugly aspect. Another exhibition which has been the subject of much comment was the attempt to ridicule Gov. Jackson's action in calling out the militia.

A committee representing the army arrived from Avoca last night to see if arrangements could be made for a two days' stay here. The committeemen said the army wanted to do its weekly washing and it could stay here two days and still reach Des Moines by Saturday. The request probably will be granted.

KELLY'S PURPOSE

Says He Wishes Congress to Reclaim Arid Lands.

AVOCA, Iowa, April 24.—The real object of the march to Washington has heretofore been a mystery and to all inquiries as to his intentions Kelly returns evasive answers. But he has at last consented to outline his plans for the end of the journey. Should his army be refused approach to the capital he will upon his arrival in Washington, he said, take four of his men and make a personal appeal to Congressmen Pence of Colorado, Maguire of California and Senator Allen of Nevada. Through their efforts he hopes to be allowed to draw up his men where the lawmakers of the nation must see them: He said: "We will ask that the commission already in existence to look after the redeeming of arid lands in the west be instructed to proceed with the work. We will ask that the men in our army, and the great army of the unemployed which we represent, be put to work on this irrigation. They can settle on the lands they have reclaimed and within a short period will have developed from homeless wanderers into sturdy farmers and property owners. That in substance is our demand. We will not attempt to dictate what wages will be paid; what we want is work. If we can only get to Washington, if we can let the law makers see that we are bread winners, honest and sincere, we will be successful in our mission, for our demands are not unreasonable.

"I have no connection with Coxey. I will combine with his army if we can reach Washington in time, but if not we will go alone."

Proclamation from Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—The Washington authorities have defined their attitude toward Coxey's band. The emergency is met by a proclamation issued by the District commissioners yesterday afternoon. Its issue is timely because the usual wild reports have been set afloat that the President had already called out the regular troops. There is no foundation for this rumor. The proclamation urges the men to turn back and warns them that if they come the forces for the preservation of order are adequate and will be ready.

Senator Allen said yesterday that as the Peffer resolution upon which were based his remarks and those of Senator Hawley attacking him had been disposed of, and as he had not been able to get in his speech in reply to the Connecticut senator last week, he probably would not reply at all. He said he was satisfied that his people in Nebraska approved his course. As proof he read a telegram from Lincoln that 2,000 citizens in mass-meeting adopted resolutions thanking him for his stand for the rights of American citizens in the Coxey matter.

To Give Frye a Grand Greeting

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 24.—Col. Aubry's 150 men are being drilled daily and will await the arrival of Gen. Frye's division now at Terre Haute, which is expected to arrive Thursday. Leroy Templeton, ex-populist candidate for governor, is negotiating with the Big Four for thirty grain cars to take the army from here direct to Washington. A cavalry brigade is being organized to meet Gen. Frye at the city limits and escort him to Tomlinson hall, where Gov. Matthews and Mayor Denny will address the army.

ANDERSON, Ind., April 24.—An ordinance was passed at a special meeting of the council requiring all tramps found in the city limits to be vaccinated. About fifty were subjected to the requirements.

Mob Becomes Wild at Butte, Mont.

HELENA, Mont., April 24.—A detachment of Coxey's army, 400 strong, has been trying to get out of Butte for the last three days over the Northern Pacific, but so far they have been thwarted. The army yesterday tried to capture a train, but were prevented by deputies and a riot very nearly took place. Several companies of militia are under arms, and it is probable regulars from Fort Missoula will be sent to-day.

Can Not Enter Chicago.

CHICAGO, April 24.—Chicago, through its municipal council, last night notified the commonwealers who propose to camp here en route to Washington that they will not be allowed to enter the city. The chief of police was instructed to take all necessary measures to keep out the Kellyites and Coxeyites of every description, and the railroads were requested to cooperate to the same end.

Denver's Sympathy Army Plan.

DENVER, Colo., April 24.—A home reserve of Coxey's army is to be formed here to show their sympathy for the active members of the army in a substantial manner, and to lend encouragement and aid. It is expected to secure 2,000 signers to the roll at meeting to-day.

CHIPPewa FALLS, Wis., April 24.—Fred Norman, a young man at Shell Lake, has organized a branch of Coxey's army and will start in a few days. He has seventy-five recruits.

Pacific Coast Branches.

OAKLAND, Cal. April 24.—The combined industrial army of San Francisco and Oakland, numbering 850 men and four women, broke camp here this morning and began their movement toward Washington. All had blankets and were warmly clothed. Two wagons with food and camp trappings brought up the rear. The leaders of the army believe that the Southern Pacific will soon give them a train.

Big Crowd Is Ready at Seattle.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 24.—The industrial army now has 940 recruits enrolled in ten companies, and expects to start for Washington Wednesday. Gen. Shephard will divulge his plans for marching to Washington at a public meeting to-night. A ball held Saturday night for the benefit of the army netted $240.

Commonwealers go to Church.

WILMINGTON, Ohio, April 24.—Galvin's regiment of commonwealers arrived at Sabina at 5:30 yesterday afternoon and went into camp at the fair grounds. The citizens furnished them with supper. Two hundred and ten men attended the M. E. church at Wilmington last night and were attentive listeners.

BASEBALL REPORT.

Games Played in the National League Yesterday.

Scores of the various National league games played yesterday were as follows:

FOUR MEN KILLED IN A TILE MILL.

BIG STRUCTURE AT HUNTINGTON, IND., WRECKED.

Quartette of Employes Who Were at Work in the Building at the time Blown Into Eternity by the Explosion and Several Others Were More or Less Hurt.

HUNTINGTON, Ind. April 4. [Special].—The big tile mill exploded this morning at Markee, killing four employes and injuring many more.

SHOOT DOWN SOCIALISTS.

Gendarmes in a Hungarian Town Quiet a Riot with Bullets.

BUDA PESTH, April 24.—A mob of socialist agrarians made an attack upon the municipal building at Holdmezo Vasarahely, Hungary, yesterday evening and threatened to demolish it. The police were able to hold the mob at bay until they could summon re-enforcements, when they charged upon the crowd and drove it back. The mob rallied and made another assault upon the town hall, when the gendarmes fired into the crowd, killing two and wounding a dozen or more. A troop of huzzars then cleared the streets and the police completed their work by arresting the ringleaders of the mob.

TWO BABES MURDERED.

Awful Crime of an Insane Negro, Who Afterward Drowns Himself.

TUSCOGEE, Ala., April 24.—Mrs. George Sinclair left her home for a short visit and on her return found her two little girls, aged two and six years, missing. A search resulted to-day in the discovery of their dead bodies in the woods near the house with their heads battered in. The little ones had wandered from the house and been murdered. In a mill pond near by was found the body of Horace Johnson, an insane negro, who, it is supposed, met the little ones, murdered them and then jumped into the pond and drowned himself.

JESSE SELIGMAN DEAD.

New York Banker Succumbs to Pneumonia and Bright's Disease.

HOTEL DEL CORONADO, Cal., April 24.—Jesse Seligman of J. & S. Seligman, bankers of New York and London, died at the Hotel Del Coronado at 9 o'clock yesterday from pneumonia and Bright's disease. He came to Coronado four days ago direct from New York with his wife and daughter. His condition had become so serious on his arrival that all the members of his family were telegraphed for, but he died before their arrival.

Strikers Fire on Officers.

ASHLAND, Wis., April 24.—Shots were fired at the barracks occupied by the officers who are guarding the Northwestern ore docks Sunday. A number of bullets penetrated the building. The officers rushed out and opened fire in the direction whence the bullets came and some twenty shots were exchanged, without injury to any one.

Discrimination Against Jesuits.

ROME, April 24.—The vatican is informed that, although the bundesrath will reject the bill passed by the reichstag permitting the return of the Jesuits to Germany, the Berlin government has decided to grant that permission to members of other orders that have been expelled.

Bomb Explodes at Leige.

PARIS, April 24.—Two bombs exploded to-day just outside the mayor's house in Leige, France. The Royal theater, which is but a few yards from the house, was slightly damaged. Nobody was wounded. Many persons suspected of having set the bombs have been arrested.

Frye's Army Vaccinated.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 24.—The county board of health yesterday vaccinated every one of Frye's band of Coxeyites. It is expected that the Vandalias will take the army to Indianapolis from here.

Was Tilden's Law Partner.

NEW YORK, April 24.—Ex-Judge Nelson Jarvis Waterbury, the veteran lawyer and former partner of Samuel J. Tilden, died at his home in this city yesterday from pneumonia, with which he was suddenly seized about midnight on Thursday.

McKane Case Advanced.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Chief Justice Fuller decided to-day to take the appeal of John Y. McKane, the Gravesend boss, on briefs and gave the attorneys until Friday to prepare their briefs.

Michael Boland Dead.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 24.—Michael Boland, one of the celebrated triangle of the Clan-na-Gael, died at his home in this city, corner of Sixteenth street and Troost avenue, at 11:30 o'clock to-day.

Spanish Pilgrims Enrich the Pope.

ROME, April 24.—The Spanish pilgrims, whose visits to Rome have extended over the past fortnight, have made contributions to the pope aggregating 1,230,000 francs.

Big Four Men May Strike.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 24.—A vote is now being taken by Big Four employes on the St. Louis division of that road that will decide the question of a strike.

HIGH SCHOOL BONDS
WILL NOT BE SIGNED

MAYOR IN DOUBT AS TO THE VOTE.

No Health Officer Chosen, Dr. Edden Getting the Straight Republican Vote and Dr. O. P. Robinson the Democratic—Contract for Painting Monterey Bridge.

The first regular meeting of the new common council was held last evening, Mayor Thoroughgood presiding; all the aldermen being present except Alderman McLean.

Street Commissioner Hanthorn submitted his report, covering a period from October 23, 1893, to April 15, showing the work done in his department, together with the cost of labor and material. The report was referred to the committee on highways, streets and bridges.

Clerk Bates presented a number of bills and communications which had been before the old council and which had died in the hands of different committees. These were again referred to appropriate committees. Among these papers were a number of quarantine bills for clothing, etc., furnished persons confined in the jail; also the nomination of W. E. Evenson, as second assistant chief engineer of the fire department.

On petition the saloon license held by T. E. Ludden was transferred to Salhof Brothers.

The February and March report of the city marshal was presented and found correct and placed on file.

The bonds of the city assessors, C. B. Conrad and Henry Hemming were approved.

The clerk reported that two bids had been received for painting Monterey bridge; one of E. J. Kent & Co., $275, and one from J. H. Hagen, $355. The bids were referred to the bridge committee.

Alderman Baines, of the finance committee, reported back the February, March and April reports of the city treasurer as correct, and the same were placed on file; also, in favor of auditing a number of miscellaneous bills.

Mayor Will Not Sign.

Under the rule calling for reports of committees, when the committee on schools was called, Mayor Thoroughgood said:

GENTLEMEN:—There exists so much doubt as to whether the proposition to issue bonds for the erection of a new high school was carried or lost, at the last election, that I desire to say to you now that I shall refuse to sign any ordinance based upon said election that may hereafter be introduced providing for such bonds.

On motion of Alderman Child, the committee on fire and water and chief of fire department were instructed to purchase eighteen rubber coats for members of the fire department.

Alderman Rich of the highway, street and bridge committee, reported back the specifications for paving South River street, with a number of changes as agreed upon by the property owners, and on his motion the same were adopted.

On motion of Alderman Winslow, the committee on parks was authorized to employ a competent person to take care of the parks.

Orders were adopted as follows: By Alderman Smith—For a block cross walk on Chatam street at Ravine. By Alderman Kothman—For block crosswalk at Galena and Lincoln streets and cleaning gutters. By Alderman Cunningham—For block cross walk on Franklin street, west side of Milwaukee. By Alderman Winslow—For the repair of Park street from Court to South Third street.

On Motion of Alderman Rich the council proceeded a ballot for health officer. Four ballots were taken each ballot resulting in Dr. Edden receiving five votes to four cast for Dr. Robinson. Under the rules requiring six votes to elect, there was no choice, and the council postponed further balloting until the next meeting.

MORE STREETS TO BE PAVED.

Main and East Milwaukee Likely to Be Paved in Line.

Paving of streets is again being agitated, and the indications are that not only South River street will be paved this season, but that a portion of East Milwaukee street, and probably the business portion of Main street, will also be blocked. East Milwaukee street, from the bridge to Main street, a section which has long since been a nuisance and a disgrace to the city, will undoubtedly be paved early this season. Owners of the property abutting this section now agree to the improvement under certain conditions, which will probably be agreed to, and it is now claimed the paving will go down in the near future. This will unquestionably be carried still further on Milwaukee street, and it may not be premature to say that the street will be paved from the bridge to Bluff or Division streets.

WATER WORKS GRIEVANCES POUR IN

Committee Not in Position to Report Last Night—Another Week Given.

Patrons of the Janesville water works continue to file their grievances with the special committee appointed by the Business Men's Association, the committee now having a large number of grievances in their hands. At the meeting of the association held last night the committee was not ready to report, but it was thought their report would be ready by next Monday evening, to which time the meeting adjourned. The secretary read a number of letters from manufacturers who were looking for new locations for their plants, and these were referred to appropriate committees.

MAYOR ASKS FOR AUTHORITY
He Wanted a Ruling on the Question of School Bonds.

"My position in the school matter is very easily explained," said Mayor Thoroughgood this morning in talking over his refusal to sign bonds. "I want some legal authority for my action. There seems to be considerable doubt as to whether it requires a one half or a two-thirds vote. There is reason to believe that a two thirds majority is required. Whether it is or not I am anxious to have a ruling from the circuit court, thus saving the city from needless expense. I brought the matter up in advance on this account."

PLANS FOR A PEST HOUSE MADE
Alderman Baines is Ready to Report to the Common Council.

After the adjournment of the council last evening, Alderman Baines, chairman of the special committee on pest house, convened the special committee for the purpose of considering plans he had prepared for a new building on the site of the old rookery recently destroyed by fire near Sharon street. The plans call for a very neat and commodious building, with rooms for a family, and a number of rooms for patients. The committee will report at the next meeting of the council.

FAUST AT THE MYERS GRAND

John Griffith Won Applause for His Interpretation Last Night.

A very enjoyable performance of "Faust" opened the three nights' engagement of the Griffith company at the Myers Grand. Mephistopheles was well represented by the young star, while "Marguerite" found a graceful interpreter in Beatrice Duncourt. Miss Ada Van Etta played Martha. Tonight she will be seen in the leading role of "La Belle Russe," a character which she has made peculiarly her own.

METEOR HIT PORTER AND MADE A STIR.

FIFTY-TWO POUND FALLING STAR FOUND.

The Light As It Fell Was Seen By Many and a Search Was Made Which Resulted in Finding the Celestial Vagrant—Weibert Tritschler Well Known.

PORTER, April 24.—A meteor weighing fifty-two pounds is the topic of talk in Porter. It is a compact metallic body of very dark color, and with considerable luster. The whole neighborhood was lighted by its fall, and many traced it to its resting place. It will be sent to the state university at Madison. No other meteor has been known to fall in southern Wisconsin for years. Weibert Tritschler, who was found dead in the road near Fulton Sunday morning, formerly worked here. His murder has caused much excitement. The Eagle creamery commences work May 1. A young man from Canada is engaged to make the butter. Quite a number are fishing these days in the Twin lakes and in the river. Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Connors and Mr. and Mrs. D. Skelly, were visiting at Stephen Dooley's, on Sunday. Miss Etta Keegan, of Chicago, is visiting her parents here. Fred. Phifer, of Edgerton, was here on Sunday. Auctioneer M. L. Dooley, of Janesville, was a caller on real estate business last week. A number of young people expect to attend the S. A. & B. Society's May party in Edgerton, May 4. Miss Mary Briarty has a young lady visiting her. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Flaherty, of Indian Ford, were pleasant visitors on Sunday.

OPERATION ON A MILTON MAN.

Tumor Removed From Charles Sayre's Foot—Frank Starr a Candidate.

MILTON, April 24.—Dr. J. H. Burdick, assisted by Dr. Ella J. Crandall, performed a successful operation on Charles Sayre's foot Friday. A tumor was removed and the diseased bone scraped. Professor F. P. Starr, of Afton, who is a candidate for superintendent of schools in this district, was a visitor in the village Friday. Perry Sweet and wife of Cartwright, have returned to this place, and will make it their home. Glad to see them back again. Keep in your mind the B. L. and O. festival of the King's Daughters on the 24th of next month. This is the date of Queen Victoria's birthday and the festival will be to the "queen's taste." Mrs. W. W. Clarke is able to be about the house. A first class sidewalk was laid in front of the houses of W. P. and W. W. Clarke last week by Commissioner Coon. Mrs. H. W. Randolph is not improving in health and fears are entertained that her trouble is a serious one. The new firm of Dunn, Boss & Co., begin business on May 1. Milton will be well represented at the G. A. R. encampment tomorrow by comrades and members of the Women's Relief Corps. Phifer, the blacksmith, has begun work in the old gravel shop and the village now boasts of three blacksmiths. A new sidewalk is a necessity on college street, there being ten times more travel on it than any other. W. H. Weaver went to Janesville Monday to begin his labors as jurymen in the circuit court. Frank Mack, agent of the Northwestern Railroad Company at Cartwright is visiting his father, James A. Mack, this week. He has been dangerously ill. Frank C. Richardson of the Evanston Theological seminary, has been at home for several days. Mr. Koch and wife of Fielding, Ill., visited their son and daughter, J. C. Goodrich and wife, this week. Mr. and Mrs. D. F. Baker have sold their houses and lands on the Janesville road to Mr. Babcock, who recently moved here from Garwin, Iowa. Rev. W. H. Summers is attending a ministerial conference at Footville this week. Rev. R. Trewartha, D. D. united with the Methodist church in this village Sunday. W. H. Clarke of Edgerton, was in the village Monday, visiting relatives. Williams & Dunn are finishing off the north part of their second floor and we are informed that it is to be used for the new printing office.

SHOPIERE CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

Passing of the Fiftieth Year to be Suitably Observed.

SHOPIERE April 24.—The fiftieth anniversary of the Congregational church will be celebrated on Friday and Saturday of this week. The committee are preparing a history of the church from the time the society was organized to the present time. A cordial invitation is extended to all and a social time is anticipated. Farmers wishing to purchase any kind of farm machinery will do well to call on John J. Hollister before buying elsewhere. The improved Plano Binder can be seen at his warehouse. Charles Weirick, Lester Van Galder and Charles Shimeall gave a dancing party at the hall in this place on Wednesday night. Beloit and Clinton were represented and all were well pleased with the calico hop. Dr. Manley and wife were enjoying themselves by the coal fire on Friday night when about 8 o'clock the bell rang and Mrs. Manley on going to the door found about twenty couple standing in the rain with their baskets ready to march in and take possession. They kept coming until the house was filled. A colored gentleman that made so much fun for the company waited on the table in good style. J. S. Watson, Chicago, has been engaged as butter maker at the factory. Henry Dising joined the Woodmen on Monday night. He rode the goat all right, but does not seem to be satisfied, and has been trying to ride the separator belt on the factory ever since that night with not very good success. Edward Case, from Irving Park, has been visiting this place for a few days. Frank Culver lost a valuable horse a few days ago. Mr. and Mrs. Brant, from Clinton, father and mother of Mrs. Lyman Graves, came here last week to spend the summer. Farmer Christman and wife and Miss Fenton, of Janesville, were at church at this place on Sunday evening. Harry Truesdell and wife from Rockford, are visiting their parents for a few days. Rev. Mr. Bedford and wife, from Rockton, took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wheeler one day last week. E. Z. Shepard, from near Racine, a friend of Nelson Wheeler, spent a day here last week. The young people gave Miss Viola Crozenburg a surprise on Saturday evening, it being her birthday, all enjoying themselves finely. B. H. Sweet is sick with quincy, being taken down on Saturday night. Henry Sweet came home from Chicago Saturday night.

LIMA PASTOR IN FOOTVILLE.

Rev. Mr. Bray Present at the Ministerial Conference—Personal Notes.

LIMA, April 24.—Rev. Mr. Bray is spending the first of this week at Footville, attending the Methodist Ministerial Conference, which is in session there. Mr. and Mrs. Stetson of Orfordville, are visiting at their son's, Dr. H. R. Stetson, at the present writing. Miss Allie Johnson left last Sunday for a few weeks' stay at Mr. Church's, on the town line. Presiding Elder Pease occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church last Sunday evening, and gave a soul stirring address, from the words "Where Hast Thou Gleaned Today?" Miss Ella Stillman expects to start Wednesday for a two months' visit with friends in St. Paul, Minn. Mrs. Marshall Teetech and children left last Wednesday to visit her sister, Mrs. Glennan, who resides in Milwaukee. George Warren and wife of Janesville, visited Mrs. Warren's mother, Mrs. Bacon, last week. Willard and Clarence Johnson of Milton, called on friends in this community last Sunday.

NORTH JOHNSTOWN JOTTINGS.

Rev. Mr. Jones in Whitewater—John Bennett is Better.

NORTH JOHNSTOWN, April 24.—Rev. Mr. Jones and wife spent last Thursday with friends in Whitewater. Miss Rose Callison left last Wednesday to visit friends in Illinois. John Bennett is gaining some, and is able to be out of doors when it is pleasant. Mrs. Holt is not as well and fears are entertained of her recovery. Cleaning house, painting and papering is the order of business at the parsonage this week. Orville Church, of Janesville, visited at his old home from Friday until Sunday. Watson Aldrich led the young people's meeting last Sunday evening of the A. C. F. society and Clerk Harris will lead next Sunday evening. All are invited to be present.

CHIPS AND SHAVINGS.

There are 27,211 Confederate pensioners and inmates of the Confederate homes in the South. Last year they were paid $1,150,936 in pensions.

What will be the largest bucket hopper dredger in the world is now being built in Scotland. It is to be used in the work of deepening the Danube.

The oddest timber "corner" in the world is one that the Buddhists of Japan are trying to form for the purpose of preventing Christians from getting any more material to build churches.

A fountain that stood for many years on the main street square in Pawtucket, R. I., has been removed and set up in a cemetery. Its base bears the touchingly appropriate word "Welcome."

A woman's journal is now published in Alexandria, Egypt, with articles in it written exclusively by women. It is called El Fata ("the young woman") and is edited by a Syrian lady, Miss Hind Noufal.

The police captains of Brooklyn have been ordered to wear standing collars of the very latest pattern. Monocles and chrysanthemums have not yet been suggested, but may be looked for ere long.

A remarkable pointer is owned by John Abberger of Minneola, Florida. The dog had 1,700 quail, two deer and quite a number of wild turkeys killed over it between the 1st of November, 1892, and February 1, 1893.

The Kew Bulletin says that the parched region between the Nile and the Red sea was once thoroughly forested. Certainly the bare Scottish moors were, for the cotters still dig roots out of them for burning.

After an absence of twenty-seven years, Charles Patterson returned to his old home in Pittsburg, a few days ago, and was surprised to find that his wife had married his brother, and that his return brought no joy. His wife had remained unmarried for twenty-five years, but two years ago, thinking Charles surely dead, wedded his brother Fernando.

Notices from irate husbands refusing to be responsible for debts contracted by their wives are not new or novel; but few have been more unique than the following, which was posted in 1851 in Madame Watson's hotel at St. John, Canada: "My name dat is Peter Ravel. My wife leave my bed and board and shan't ax me. Anybody trus him on my name dat loss for you."

Meheemed Rashid, the oldest porter employed at the ministry of public works at Constantinople, has just died at the ripe old age of 110 years.

ODD FELLOWS PLAN
A BIG CELEBRATION.

I. O. O. F. ANNIVERSARY TO BE FITLY OBSERVED.

Change in Date Was Made Because of the Grand Army Encampment, But This Will Not Interfere With the Success of the Entertainment.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of Odd Fellowship will be celebrated by Janesville Odd Fellows at Columbia hall to-morrow evening. A fine musical and literary entertainment has been provided, which will conclude with a social dance. All Odd Fellows and their families are invited. A special invitation is extended to the Grand Army visitors who are members of the order. The following is the programme of the evening:

HUMORS OF THE HOUR.

Chappie—I'm awfully fond of hunting dogs. She, innocently—Yes? Where do you go to hunt them?

Waiter—De usual steak, sah? Regular Customer—No; I am tired to-night. Bring me a plate of hash.

Elaine—Would you ever get over it and forget me, George, if I should refuse you? George—You bet I would. Elaine—Well, then I am yours.

Irate German, to stranger who has stepped on his toe—Mine front, I know mine feet vas meant to be walked on, but dot privilege pelongs to me.

"Do you believe that thing about casting your bread upon the waters and having it return?" "Well it wouldn't work with my wife's bread. That would sink."

Small Boy, as grocer pours molasses into jug on cold morning—Here, mister, you haven't got all the molasses out of that measure! Grocer—That's all right, sonny, there was some in the measure before.

Collector—I am collecting bills for Sugar, Spice & Co. Housekeeper, a Vassar graduate—Collecting bills, are you? Very well; I have two or three of their bills which you are welcome to add to your collection.

"Say, father," said the small boy, "did Cerbett and Mitchell go to school when they were little?" "Why, I suppose so." "Well," resumed the thoughtful young man after a pause, "I bet their teachers never had to whip either of them for fighting."

Mistress—My husband was out to a dinner last night, Bridget, and it won't be necessary for you to sweep the hall this morning. Bridget—Yis, mum. Is there anything else, mum? Mistress—You might run the carpet sweeper over his dress suit a few times.

Special Tax Notice.

THE PIANO COUPONS IN GREAT DEMAND.

NEW CANDIDATES HAVE BEEN NOMINATED.

Everybody Who Has Examined the Instrument at S. C. Burnham & Co's Says the Things Said in Its Favor Were Justified—Conditions of the Contest.

Piano coupons are at a premium all around town. Beside canvassing for coupons several of the candidates are also securing the votes of those who wish to subscribe for the paper. Names of new candidates are mentioned daily and as fast as votes are received the names will be added to the published list. This is not arranged in the order of voting, but alphabetically.

Everybody who has seen The Gazette piano is enthusiastic in its praise. It has a pure ringing tone, and its action is very fine. These qualities are what would be expected of a Shaw piano and The Gazette made no mistake in choosing that instrument.

Friends of contestants show a lively interest in the success of their favorites and votes are coming in rapidly. New subscribers should be reported as fast as secured, but coupons should be tied in bundles of one hundred each and kept until the day the competition closes. Votes have been cast up to date, for the following names:

Baker, Bessie
Clifford, Alice M.
Eldredge, Rose B.
Frank May
Foster, Lahlie
Gifford, Alice V.
Gibbs, Maria J.
Holt, Ellen
Kenyon, Cora
Kastner, Alice
Loucks, Franc
McNeil, Anna
Peters, Nellie
Randall, Carrie M.
Wright, Ada V.

Names of other candidates will be added as fast as votes are received. Only bona fide candidates will be allowed. The rule that nobody is permitted to enter merely to represent an organized society will be strictly enforced.

From now until the contest closes a coupon will be printed in each issue of the Gazette.

1. Any one, anywhere in any state is entitled to vote as often as they buy a copy of The Janesville Gazette containing the above ballot.

2. Cut the ballot out (trimming on the dotted lines.) Write in the name of your candidate and enclose same in an envelope addressed to Ballot Editor, Gazette, Janesville, Wis.

3. Only one person can be voted for on one ballot.

4. The lady who receives the largest number of votes will receive as good and beautiful a piano as the Shaw Piano Company can make.

5. The contest will close June 30, 1894. Piano will be delivered as soon as the counting of votes is completed.

6. Any person who will bring The Gazette one new subscriber paid in advance will be entitled to the following number of ballots:

New subscriber paid in advance one month, 100 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance two months, 250 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance six months, 900 votes.

New subscriber paid in advance one year, 2,000 votes.

Each new subscriber who pays in advance and casts the number of votes specified is also entitled, of course, to cut coupons from the paper from day to day and vote in the regular manner.

No person will be allowed extra votes for stopping his paper and having it sent to another name at the same address.

In every instance they must be bona fide new subscribers.

We will be square with you, you must be square with us. No person will be allowed to stop his paper on Monday and start it again Tuesday and claim the premium offered.

The polls will close at 9:00 p. m., June 30, but votes handed in before this will be duly credited. The contest will be conducted strictly "on the square." No partiality or unfair advantage will be taken or allowed in any case.

We have sold Ely's Cream Balm about three years, and have recommended its use in more than a hundred special cases of catarrh. The unanimous answer to our inquiries is, "It's the best remedy that I ever used." Our experience is, that where parties continued its use, it never fails to cure.—J. H. Montgomery & Co., Druggists, Decorah, Iowa.

When I began using Ely's Cream Balm my catarrh was so bad I had headache the whole time and discharged a large amount of filthy matter. That has almost entirely disappeared and I have not had headache since.—J. H. Sommers, Stepheny, Conn.

Better Yet.
The other forenoon a young man whose hair seemed to stand on end and whose wild eyes and red face attracted immediate attention halted before a Woodward avenue dry goods store and gazed fixedly at the card signs attached to articles displayed at the door.

"Reduced one-half in ten days, eh?" he muttered, as one card in particular caught his eye. "Maybe that fellow inside thinks he's mighty smart, but he's mistaken. I struck this town with forty dollars only two days ago, and here I'm reduced to fifteen cents already. Half in ten days; humph!"—Detroit Free Press.

Taken at His Word.
A Texas school-teacher lost one of his scholars very suddenly and unexpectedly. The class was parsing a sentence.

"What is the imperative of the verb to go?" asked the teacher.

"I dunno."

"Go!"

"Thank you!" murmured the lad, as he shot out of the door before the teacher could prepare his veto message.—Alex E. Sweet, in Texas Siftings.

SPARE RIBS AND CABBAGE.

—Life.

Other Things Count.

"A great deal depends on penmanship, my boy—a great deal depends on penmanship," he said to his son. "It may be of inestimable value to a young man, so you can't be too particular. I notice you don't write nearly so good a hand as your brother."

"Neither do you," retorted the boy.

"Um—no, perhaps not. I didn't have the advantages."

"But yours is good at the bank and his isn't."

And thus ended the first lesson.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Matrimonial Persiflage.

Mrs. Henpeck (severely)—A good wife is the greatest riches a man can have.

Mr. Henpeck (sadly)—I only wish it were so, my dear.

Mrs. H. (with asperity)—And what reason, pray, sir, have you for thinking it is not so?

Mr. H.—Because "riches take unto themselves wings and fly away," you know.—Hullo.

A Great Success.

Young Mr. Pitts—That pie you gave to the Commercial club for the poor has been one of the most successful contributions of the year.

Young Mrs. Pitts—Indeed!

"Yes, indeed. It has been presented to no less than seven poor families so far."—Indianapolis Journal.

A Serious Accusation.

Wobbly Wiggles—I have a good mind to have that saloon bouncer who chucked me out arrested as an anarchist.

Wiggly Waggles—What charge can you bring against him?

Wobbly Wiggles—Firing a bum.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Circumstantial Evidence.

Willie—Your father is going to church to-morrow with your mother, ain't he?

Tommy—How did you know that?

Willie—Well, if he wasn't you'd never be digging bait on Saturday afternoon.—Judge.

Long Time Since They Had Met.

Policeman (to tramp in front of an exchange office)—What yer bowin' and scrapin' in front of that wanderer?

Tramp (making another bow)—I'm salutin' them bank notes—old acquaintances that I haven't seen for years.—Tammany Times.

Not Adopted.

First Fashion Leader—Why not adopt this style? It is very becoming to both of us.

STENOGRAPHERS' BILLS.

They Are Hard to Collect—How to Get a Remedy.

These are bitter days for stenographers. There is just as much work as ever; but collections are slow and uncertain. One of them told me the other day that he had been doing $1,200 worth of work for every $400 he had received during the last year.

A movement is now on foot to raise a fund to send a competent lawyer before the supreme court and argue against the celebrated Bonygne decision.

This is the man who sent in a bill of $12,000 to Tweed's lawyers for his work on the Tweed case, together with the transcripts of money ordered.

The lawyers refused to pay it on the ground that they were simply acting as agents of their clients, and were not personally responsible for the bill.

The general term sustained the decision, when Bonygne brought suit, and the case was lost every time it was appealed. Now stenographers are compelled to wait until their lawyers collect their fees from clients, and if there are no collections the stenographer's bill is held o. r.

The only remedy is to get a written contract from the lawyer himself to be personally responsible for the bill; but few court stenographers care to risk loss of friends and patronage by insisting on this precaution.

Of course, great law firms pay their stenographers promptly as they would pay any other employee, and do not ask them to share their risks in business.

But the great majority of small firms and individuals in bad times take advantage of the law and the stenographers have to suffer.

A POINT OF LAW.

The Janitor Wanted All the Statutes Turned Upon His Enemy.

"Squiah," said the colored janitor of the building, as he timidly entered the lawyer's office, "I's got er case foh yer. I wants ter ask ye 'bout er pint of law."

"State it."

"You knows what a mule is at 'is bes?" he said interrogatively.

"I know something of the animal's habits."

"An' you know dat some mules is wusser 'n others?"

"Yes. Of course."

"Well, Jed Simpson done sol' me one ob de wusses' kin' what is, fro misrepresentations ob de mos' zasperated 'scription."

"That's too bad. Now I suppose you want to sue him to recover your money."

"Dah's de pint ob law I wants ter know 'bout. I wants yer ter look in de books an' see ef we kain't hab him presented ter de gran' jury for assault an' battery, as er accensary befo' de fact."

Fourteen Long-Lived Children.

Canon Roswell, of England, who died lately at the advanced age of 78, came of a long-lived family.

Mr. Roswell's father married at the age of 19, his wife being 20. They had nineteen children, of whom five died in infancy.

The remaining fourteen attained or have attained (three are still living) the following ages: 79, 78, 82, 67, 80, 71, 89 (still living), 83, 81, 77, 38, 79 (still living), 78 and 75 (still living).

What is perhaps as remarkable is the length of days reached by the respective husbands and wives of the twelve of the above fourteen who entered the married state. These are the ages: 74, 45, 65, 79, 87 (still living), 85, 80, 84 (still living), 77, 57, 87.

A Professor.

A professor was lately lecturing at the Harvard Annex to a class of three. In the course of his talk, he came to an exposition of his views as to woman's functions in the body politic.

"Women," he said, "are merely the elements of beauty in life; their business is to make life graceful. If a girl is not pretty, she might just as well vanish from the face of the earth—that is," he qualified, as he gazed at the three sober-spectacled faces in front of him—"er, unless—she's tolerably pretty, you know."

relieved instantly by one application of

Birney's Catarrh Powder

Rev. FATHER CLARK, Sec'y to the Rt. Rev. Bishop of Columbus, Ohio, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—I cannot say enough for your Powder. It has cured me of an aggravated attack of catarrh when nothing else could help me. I am delighted with it and will try to get it for my friends. I administered samples are quite enthusiastic over it. The good sisters speak most encouragingly of their use of it in the Hospital under their care. I will be anything to speak a good word for the remedy to help others who are suffering.

M. E. FERGUSON, Custodian U. S. Appraiser's Stores, Chicago, writes:

GENTLEMEN:—Being almost entirely deaf for a number of years past and getting no relief from many so-called cures which I tried, was induced by a friend to try Dr. Birney's Catarrh Powder for my deafness. Have recovered my hearing entirely, so that I can now hear a watch tick plainly, it being held 1½ inches from my ear. I look upon it as a positive cure for deafness and have recommended its use to many of my friends and can say I have never heard of a case where it has failed to relieve.

DANGER AHEAD.

Democrats are beginning to realize the damage to which the Wilson bill is exposed as long as the income tax clause stands. The president himself is known to be personally opposed to the tax, and the influence of his section is so strongly against it that this feeling might be made decisive and seal the fate of the bill if the obnoxious schedule is in it when it reaches him. Western and southern democrats are at last coming to understand that no thought of the disastrous consequences to his party from a veto would have the slightest effect in determining Cleveland's course in the matter. His courage in this direction has been shown frequently in his attitude toward silver legislation when he took the republican side in opposition to the majority of men who elected him, and his intrepidity and independence are not calculated to be diminished by the circumstances that no more favors can be secured by him in any contingency.

USES FOR THE WILSON BILL.

People who say the Wilson bill is useless, are mistaken. As a smoke-consumer it has been phenomenally successful, having caused the smoke to disappear from factory chimneys throughout the country. The St. Louis Globe Democrat also suggests that it is entitled to consideration as a first class fire-extinguisher. It has worked wonders in Pennsylvania in abolishing smoke and extinguishing fires. It can be traced through all of that state in clean chimneys and fireless furnaces.

Any man with $40 in his pocket may now consider himself legitimate prey for Rock county murderers. For this reason the Wilson bill will be hailed as a life preserver. It will make it impossible for any man to have more than 86 cents in his pocket at any one time.

Apparently at least one more bond sale will have to be made under the law of 1875. The treasury gold fund is going down, and it will hardly be allowed to drop as low as it was in February before it is replenished.

Hill may not be a statesman but he is a clever tactician and he never put his skill to better use than in making it difficult for democrats to pass the Wilson bill.

There has never before been a time when so many democrats were stepping outside of the party for the purpose of endorsing republican doctrines and politics.

AT REST IN THE FINAL SLEEP

Funeral of Mrs. Margaret Murphy.

One of the largest funeral processions seen in Janesville in a long time escorted the remains of Mrs. Margaret Murphy from the family home at 58 Hickory street to St. Patrick's church and from there to Mount Olivet cemetery this morning. At St. Patrick's church at 10 o'clock funeral services were conducted by Dean E. M. McGinley, assisted by Father Condon. Dean McGinley's sermon was very impressive and was heard by a congregation that filled the church. The pall bearers were Paul Laskowski, Patrick McGinley, Patrick Dugan, Neil Gillispie, John Hagene, Charles Viney.

DID CHARLES COATS KILL TRITSCHLER?

Suspected Fulton Man Placed in Jail Last Night.

SOME OF THE CIRCUMSTANCES ARE MUCH AGAINST HIM

But that May Be All—Officer Hogan and Constable Wallace Cochrane Made the Arrest Last Evening—The Accused Sticks to His Story—Details of the Crime.

Did Officer Hogan and Constable Wallace Cochrane bring the murderer of Weibert Tritschler to Janesville last night when they drove into town with Charles Coats of Fulton in their carriage?

Fulton and Edgerton people almost to a man would say that they did.

Coats was taken into custody at Fulton at 8:30 o'clock last night and brought direct to Janesville. His arrest followed an exhausting search of the fields and country surrounding the scene of the crime and the village of Fulton and City of Edgerton. From noon until 8 p. m. the officers tramped about examining foot prints and questioning people whom they thought explain how his boots come to correspond with tracks that were found at the scene and leaving it, but such is the case. When Constable Cochrane examined Coats' coat at the jail he found spots upon his coat that he thought were blood stains but they may come from an injured thumb that Coats carries done up in a rag. The spots are the same size as those found on the tumbledown fence in front of Peter Matheson's tenement house on the dark and tree lined road where Tritschler was slain. Cutting across the fields from Edgerton as if to intercept Tritschler are the well defined tracks of short and wide boots such as Coats wore. This track, while it may not be Coats', comes out at the point where the civil engineer's life blood attracts a swarm of flies and discolors the earth in two spots the size of a big water pail. Across the road and leading through plowed land are several tracks leading toward the Indian Ford road which Coats claims to have traveled on his way home.

Two Theories of Officers.

The officers have two theories, either of which might apply in the case. One is that the murderer cut across the fields from Edgerton and waited for Tritschler at the place where his blood spatters the fence, and then cut across lots again to the Indian Ford road. The other is that the man who did the foul deed overtook Tritschler at the place where he was found, and took. When asked if that was not a longer route he said that "people said that it was half a mile further." He insisted that he never went the other road but always took the longer route. He could give no reason for so doing except that the "other road was more lonesome." As a matter of fact there are many more houses on the road that Tritschler took, which was also the road that all the Fulton people traveled, that there were on the Indian Ford route. A good beaten path is worn all the way from Edgerton to Fulton on the direct road while on the Indian Ford way there is scarcely a path at all. To the average person the former route would be much less lonesome than the latter. Coats said that he had carried the mail so much, his brother-in-law having the contract, that the Indian Ford road had become his favorite way of going and that when he walked he always went and came that way although if he was driving he would go the short route as there were fewer hills. No amount of questioning would shake his story and he did not appear to be in the least nervous although he was apparently wrapped in deep thought a good share of the time and once on the way to Janesville he began to whistle softly as he did when he was watching the examination of his boot.

WHERE THE MURDER WAS DONE

Tritschler's Blood Spattered the Fence and Soaked the Earth.

The place where Tritschler was slain was not an ideal spot for such a crime. On the right side of the road a smooth beaten path winds along between the row of soft maple trees and an old board fence. One hundred feet west of the spot is a stone culvert. Nearly opposite is the tenement house of Peter Matheson, which stands nearly in the center of a plowed field on Orrin Pomeroy's land. Matheson heard no sound that night, although his house is but two hundred feet or so from the place where Tritschler's life was clubbed out, and his dog did not bark that night. Harrison Smith, who lives in the next house west and but a short distance away, says his family heard no unusual sound, but he himself was in Evansville. Spots of blood from the size of a pin's head to considerable larger, litter the fence for a distance of seven feet on both sides. The bottom board had become loosened on the upper edge and the sod holds it in an inclined position, but there are spots of blood on the under side the same as on the other boards, which shows conclusively that Tritschler was pounded as he lay upon the ground. Perhaps two feet apart are the two blood pools which were yesterday thickened and dried on the edges. From their position there can be but little doubt but what Tritschler struggled with his knees after he received the first blow, and then fell forward again. Both pools contained about an equal amount of blood. Across the road was the place where the murderer had left his footprint as he cut the club that he used to finish Tritschler.

A ROMANTIC STORY AT EDGERTON

Some People Think Hired Thugs Killed the Dead Man.

A romantic story that smacks of or the Coughlin-Cronin case is told in Edgerton. Tritschler had been a civil engineer in a corps in the Franco-Russian war and also in other wars in the old country. Now they say that perhaps Tritschler had been making plans of fortifications etc. in the old country or that he had been formulating plans or other illegal documents from notes sent him. He claimed to have had documents of great value which were carried on his person but which were not found on the body. This statement he had made repeatedly to Charles White, for whom he worked a good deal, and many people in Edgerton were inclined to believe that hired assassins from the old country came to America to slay him and that the robbery was a blind. The fact that the first blow was struck with a decayed club which was evidently picked up at random in the dark would not strengthen the theory that the crime was a premeditated, for if it had been the murderers would have been better prepared, unless it had been their plans to do the thing just the way it was done to give the opinion that it was the work of people who merely wished to get the dead man's money. This story does not receive any general belief as it was either too bungling or too well planned to be plausible. Some one in Edgerton started the story that two German or Swiss strangers had been seen in the vicinity that night but nothing tangible could be learned.

TRITSCHLER A PECULIAR RECLUSE

A Civil Engineer, a Musician, and a Highly Educated Man.

A man of mystery was the victim of the brutal crime. So peculiar was he that if the man he was working for met him on the road and asked him to ride he would refuse. Charles White, of Fulton, for whom he worked a good deal, knew him perhaps best. "When you could get him to talk," said Mr. White to a Gazette man yesterday "he used the language of a lawyer. He said that he read the bible a great deal for the language that it contained saying that it was the best English ever written but that the story was simply a fable. When the Chicago anarchists were hanged he said that he could not work that day, he must have a holiday, for they were hanging his friends in Chicago. Once in a long time he would play the piano when asked and I have seen him at my house take whatever book was on the piano and play every piece from cover to cover. I have been in New York City so that I knew some of his stories about that city were correct because I know things were as he says they were. He claims to have laid out Vanderbilt's grounds and asked me if I had seen them. He also described A. T. Stewart's place and claimed to have had an office next to Russell Sage's on Broadway and gave me the correct street number. He also said he worked in the government engineer corps under Secretary of State Jefferson Davis."

Many Other Stories Told.

Tritschler was an anarchist of the reddest dye and advocated dynamite bombs and all that sort of thing. He charged that people were "after his brains" and refused to work for more than eighty-five cents a day. He talked to himself incessantly and cursed and fought telephone poles and trees. He never spoke until spoken to and made friends with no one. He drank considerably but would never accept a drink from anybody. When he had saved up forty or fifty dollars he would not work until it was gone. He read several papers closely and kept posted on political and other national affairs, especially those of the foreign nations and often insisted that Switzerland had the most perfect government extant. His plans and plots were finely executed, notably the plot of D. F. Sayre's farm and the "Indian garden" near Indian Ford. No civil engineer could do it better and each one was signed in graceful letters "Wiebert Tritschler C. E."

"He was a strange and wonderful man," said a Fulton man. "He had not worked at tobacco stripping all his life. At some time he has held the destiny of many men or perhaps nations in his hand and it would not surprise me if he made plenty of trouble for rulers in his time. Some one may have come a long distance to 'remove' him and I would not be at all astonished if they found that such was the case."

Tritschler got and sent but little mail and did not receive money from away though such a story was current in Edgerton and Fulton.

TOWN IS A'FLUTTER WITH RED AND BLUE

GRAND ARMY FORCES GATHERING RAPIDLY.

Informal Reception at the Myers To-Night—Tomorrow Night and Thursday's Will be Open to the Public—The Canvass for Commandership Grows More Interesting.

Grand Army men are pouring into town and red, white and blue covers every store front. The state encampment is open, although no formal exercises will be held until tomorrow morning.

Changes were made in the programme today. The meeting tomorrow night and the reception Thursday night were to have been for the G. A. R. only, but it was decided to admit the public. Wednesday night there will be formal speeches, songs and stories of tent life and battle field. It will be a camp fire on a big scale.

The procession Thursday will move at 11:50 sharp. The hour for forming is early enough so that this arrangement can be adhered to punctually.

Commander E. A. Shores and wife of Ashland, Colonel E. B. Gray of Milwaukee and Adjutant General D. G. Sampson of Ashland got here early this morning and registered at the Grand. The commander headed off an enthusiastic reception committee that expected him here at 1:45 p. m. and had planned to meet him with a brass band. S. H. Tallmadge, the wide awake adjutant of Wolcott Post, Milwaukee, got in last night and began at once making arrangements for the comfort of his comrades. Adjutant Tallmadge is likely to be adjutant general if Colonel Watrous is chosen department commander. His quarters are at the Myers.

The Wire-Pulling Begins.

Many side issues are being introduced into the contest for the commandership. The southern part of the state is almost solid for Colonel Watrous, but an effort is being made to create a diversion by springing a "permanent headquarters" issue. The proposition is to locate the department headquarters in Milwaukee, and it is argued that this should satisfy Milwaukee without having a Milwaukee man for commander. Milwaukee delegates say they do not ask for anything of the kind. They want Watrous, and nothing else.

"Whatever has been said about permanent headquarters has come from outside posts," said a Cream City man this morning.

The Milwaukee Sentinel is opposing Colonel Watrous for the reason that he will not appoint Colonel E. B. Gray, of Milwaukee, adjutant general. To-day the Sentinel says Drake post of Milwaukee, will send a solid anti-Watrous delegation. Commander Goldsmith, of Drake post, is one of the men quoted as pledged for Billings, but as soon as he reached Janesville this noon he declared that he was not committed either way. Colonel Watrous, it is said, will get a fair share of Drake post's votes. Among those who will support Colonel Watrous are Major Upham, Captain Ferguson, Colonel Griffin, Philip Cheek, D. G. Sampson, Commander Shores and like leaders in the state.

Colonel Walker Can't Come.

Colonel I. N. Walker, of Indiana, will not be able to attend the encampment. He was to have been Grand Commander Adams' representative. None of the national officers are likely to be here but Colonel Lawler, of Rockford, who has been post commander twenty-five successive years and who is likely to be grand commander next year, will attend.

An informal reception will be given at the parlors of the Hotel Myers by the W. R. C. this evening. Refreshments will be served in upper rooms of the opera house restaurant.

Light Infantry to Take Part.

Wednesday's programme is solely for the Grand Army and the W. R. C. There will be business sessions in the Armory at 9 a. m. and 2 p. m. Wednesday evening an informal meeting of G. A. R. men will be held at the Armory. Thursday brings two more business sessions and the parade at 11:30. The principal reception will be Thursday evening.

Captain C. F. Glass of the Light Infantry has received the following invitations.

JANESVILLE, WIS., APRIL 23, '94. CAPT. C. F. GLASS: An invitation is hereby extended to Co. A, 1st Inf., W. N. G., to attend a reception on Thursday eve, May 26, with their ladies; exercises to commence at 7:30 sharp; and it is also requested that your company appear in full fatigue uniform. W. G. PALMER, Sec'y. of General Com.

CAPT. C. F. GLASS: Will you please detail one of your company in full fatigue uniform, mounted, to act as assistant marshal at the parade on Thursday noon. B. H. BALDWIN, marshal.

HEADQUARTERS, Co. A, 1st Inf., W. N. G.—Every member of company ordered to be at the Armory at 10 o'clock, April 26, in full fatigue uniform, to act as escort for the G. A. R. Ordinance Sergt. Charles Gage is hereby detailed as assistant marshal. He is ordered to report to Chief Marshal B. H. Baldwin on the morning of the 26th. By order

FOR YOUNG AMERICA.

What Little Boys and Girls Will Wear the Coming Summer.

Shades of brown are much used for girls' dresses. Besides the favorite tobacco brown there are various tones of tan, and these light shades, in serge especially, wear well and will even bear washing, although brown was formerly considered, and with good reason, a tint not to be depended upon. It used to be prone to fade in the sun and spot in the rain and "run" if it got wet, but the new browns seem to be as fast as any other color. Scotch plaids are also sold for children's wear and are always pretty and suitable, whether the scarlet mixture be selected or the darker ones of blue, green or brown. The red plaids are soft in color in spite of their brightness and are very pretty for young or little girls' frocks, trimmed with rows of narrow black velvet ribbon. Little French girls are wearing straw hats trimmed with wide plaid ribbon and cream lace.

A good model for a child's dress in thin wool goods is shown, having a sailor blouse with a wide collar, puffed sleeves with deep cuffs and an accented plaited skirt. Accordion plaiting is still used for women as well as children and seems to be a permanent addition to the wardrobe. It is shown again in a long serge coat for a little girl. The body of the coat is plain, but an accordion plaited cape mounted on a round yoke is worn over it. Jackets have been brought out for very small children, to be slipped on over the thin white frocks on cool days. One was of fine sky blue flannel cut with a wide collar. It was trimmed with white lace and had a double row of pearl buttons in front. Another was of striped stuff and was exactly like a sailor's pea jacket, except that it was only about 10 inches long and narrow in proportion.

The boy's suit in the accompanying cut is made of dark blue chevrot. The jacket is worn open over a vest of striped jersey material. The girl's costume is of hazel nut brown serge. The skirt is trimmed with bands of narrow black velvet ribbon. The full bodice fastens behind, and the waist is encircled by a sash of black velvet ribbon. The sleeve has a balloon puff from shoulder to elbow, ending in a ruffle trimmed with velvet ribbon. A wide collar covers the shoulders, and a standing collar of velvet finishes the neck.

SMART COVERT CLOTH COSTUMES.

They Are Very Fetching, and a Sun Umbrella Goes With Them.

Among the light woolen fabrics intended for serviceable wear, covert cloth is the first favorite. In fawn, gray and tan shades it is much used for tailor made gowns as well as for thin outer jackets and is a pleasing change from the monotonous alternative of serge or glossy finished goods, the two materials most in vogue for the past few years. Trimmed with the huge carved mother of pearl buttons now so fashionable—white, clouded or iridescent—and finished with neat rows of stitching, these covert cloth costumes are confessedly "smart," as the phrase goes, and extremely useful for city, seaside or mountain wear. The stuff is thin and light in weight, and if it is simply made and lined with silk and linen material it will be found not too heavy for ordinary warm weather. Sun umbrellas having white handles terminated by Dresden balls have been brought out to go with these goods. They are covered with silk woven in tiny checks of white, with gray, tan or brown, with sometimes an intermingling of more conspicuous colors, such as dark blue, garnet or buff. These umbrellas roll up into remarkably small compass and are provided with tight cases of the same silk and big white silk tassels. Plain white linen collar and cuffs and a hat of mixed straw commend themselves as adjuncts of the covert cloth gown, the wearer of which may feel equally at ease in sunshine and shower, provided her boots are in no danger of becoming damp. Boots are an extremely sensitive part of a woman's anatomy. One wetting destroys forever the perfection of their fit and stiffens them into dull unpliability.

Speaking of boots, patent leather retains its popularity and is much worn in both buttoned and laced boots, but the latter are almost invariably cut in the blucher style. It is hardly possible to find a fine laced boot of the once ordinary cut. High heels have quite gone out for street wear. Those made of leather lifts are referred to, for no woman with any pretense to good taste ever wore the wooden kid covered heels anywhere except in the house or in her carriage.

A sketch is given of a covert cloth gown having a plain bell skirt and a round waist, over which is a tightly fitting Eton jacket lapping diagonally over the chest, where it is fastened by three large pearl buttons. The gigot sleeves have also three buttons at the wrist. Rows of stitching finish the costume. JUDIC CHOLLET.

POACHED EGGS.

The Man With the Hare Lip Had a Difficulty With the Waiters.

The man with the hare lip was hungry. He went into a restaurant and at once got into trouble with the waiter because of his inability to pronounce the letter "p." He studied the coffee stained bill of fare and then said:

"I want four poached aigs." When the waiter returned he deposited before the guest four slices of pork. The hare-lipped man looked at the meat, then at the waiter.

"I didn't order that," he said. "Dat's what yo' ohdahed, sah," replied the darkey. "Yo' said yo' wanted fo' po'k steaks."

"No, I didn't order four fork steaks. I ordered four foached aigs."

"Well, what yo' kickin' about? Dere's yo' po'k steaks."

The hungry man first made sure that the Sengambian was not guying him, and then said:

"See here, my friend, I don't suppose you ever lived on a farm."

The waiter said he didn't and the colloquy proceeded by the following circuitous route, in order to avoid the lingual rock on which the hungry man's gastronomic hopes had been wrecked at the outset:

"Well, you know what a rooster is?"

"Yes, sah; saw one on Souf Watah street once."

"You know what a rooster's wife is?"

"Dey youser call 'em hens."

"You know what a rooster's wife's children are?"

"Chickums."

"You know what a rooster's wife's children afore they're hatched are?"

"Aigs."

"Well!! I want four—rooster's—wife's—children—afore—they're—hatched—foached."

G.A.R. NOTICE

We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new Commissioner of Pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors, and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If U. S. soldiers, or their widows, children, or parents desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to the Press Claims Company at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address:

OVER FORTY YEARS AGO.

The First Race for the America's Cup and the American's Victory.

The first race for the cup, now known as the America's cup, was sailed around the Isle of Wight on August 22, 1851, says the Philadelphia Press. Of the yachts that sailed the seas in those days the gallant old America, full of years and honors, is probably the only one now in commission. The Royal yacht squadron had offered a cup open to competition from all nations. The America was lying at Cowes, and her owners were anxious to get a match race with a representative British yacht. Commodore Stevens entered the America in this open race. There were six schooners, one a three-master of 392 tons, and eight cutters in the race. The America was the last yacht to get off. She ran wing-and-wing, her main sail out on one side and her foresail out on the other, and very soon had sailed grandly through the fleet, reaching the schooner Beatrice and the cutters Aurora, Volante, and Arrow, which were leading. Finally the America, by very skillful dodging, managed to get into the lead.

The yankee boat with the wind free had shown superiority over the English vessels. And when it came to windward work she proved that she was equally superior. She worked to windward so speedily that by the time the point was reached there was not a yacht in sight from her decks. The wind now died down and a strong head tide was encountered, against which the America made little headway. This gave the fleet, which had not yet caught the full strength of the tide, a chance to creep up on her. The little cutter Aurora, and the cutter Arrow nearly caught up with the America, but the rest of the fleet were miles astern. At St. Catherine's the Arrow went aground and was out of the race, but the little Aurora clung to the America admirably. The wind now freshened again and the America drew away rapidly from her plucky little rival. After getting by St. Catherine's the America had a long leading wind, and easing off her sheets tore through the water in magnificent style and swept toward Cowes, a remarkable winner. The defeated English yachts were two days altogether getting into port. The dismay of the English yachtsmen and all Great Britain at the terrible defeat given by the little black yankee is almost a matter of international history.

Commodore Stevens had tried before the big race for a match very hard and had posted in the Royal squadron's castle a challenge to sail against any yacht for from 1,000 to 10,000 guineas, but the English were afraid of the yankee from his first appearance and the challenge was never accepted.

The Three Rs.

The famous toast to "the three R's"—"reading," "riting" and "rithmetic"—is usually accredited to Sir William Curtis, lord mayor of London, in the year 1795, and for many years one of the wardens of the tower. He proposed it at a dinner given by the London board of education in the days when Dr. Bell and "Quaker" Lancaster were pleading for increased educational advantages for the poor. It was received with great applause and drank amid much merriment. But though recognized at the time as a jest, it was afterwards taken up in earnest by Sir William's detractors, who have handed his name down to posterity as a blundering ignoramus. A late writer in one of the leading English weeklies says that an aged ex-member of the board of education, now deceased, assured him that Sir William Curtis, although a man of limited education, was very shrewd, and that it was the height of presumption to suppose that he used his immortal alliteration other than as a jest.

No Mystery After All.

A sensational mystery which threatened evil consequences to two men has just been happily explained in New Hampshire. A French wood-chopper had disappeared from the neighborhood of Concord, and two men who had been seen with him were charged with his murder. Human blood was found on the shoes of one and a check in the woodchopper's name on the other. The state had a strong circumstantial case, and the probabilities of conviction were great. The missing man has just been found at a town in a neighboring county, and the discharge of the suspected parties has been ordered.

Hands and Feet in Plaster.

One of the latest fads for rich women is to have a cast made of the hand, the ear, the nose, or the foot, as the case may be, of course each selecting the particular feature which will best repay immortalizing. The hand is the member which receives the most universal notice. A beautiful by posed white plaster hand resting on a velvet drapery has a place in more than one fashionable boudoir.

Rules of Heredity.

If parents are tall children tend to be tall, but the offspring of parents of unequal height most frequently follow the shorter. Excessive tallness is very rarely perpetuated; even if both the parents are above the average, the height of the offspring is usually only a third of the excess reached by the parents.

When Money Comes Especially Handy.

Parents should exert themselves to save a little money to keep them in old age. It will save their children the trouble and expense of shipping them from one child to another. Old people who are poor seldom have a steady home.—Acheson Globe.

FIFTY YEARS A MILL "GIRL."

A Massachusetts Woman's Lengthy Experience as a Weaver.

A few days ago Miss Matilda Davis, of Lawrence, Mass., began her fifty-first year as a weaver. When 13 years of age she began to earn her own living in a mill at Woodstock, Maine, where she was born, and from that day to this has worked in various New England mills as a weaver. As is well known, a mill worker's life to-day is not "all beer and skittles," but in times long past it was infinitely worse. When Miss Davis first went to work in Dedham half a century ago, she and her fellow weavers were only paid once in three months, counting themselves lucky if they averaged $2.50 a week. The girls did not pay their own board, pay for which was deducted from their earnings by the boarding mistress in the mill counting room. The boarding-houses were owned by the corporations and the food was poor in quality and scarce in quantity. The same bill of fare was presented the year round—fried potatoes, doughnuts and biscuits for breakfast, with coffee sweetened with molasses; tough meat and potatoes for dinner, and a repetition of breakfast for the evening meal. One day in each week bread and milk was all they had for dinner. No such thing as a chair was ever seen in a corporation boarding-house, benches doing duty instead; carpets were also unheard of there. At 10 o'clock at night all lights were supposed to be out and everybody in bed. A warning bell rang nightly at 9:45, and fifteen minutes later the "master of the house," as he was then known, made a tour to see that all lights were out. Of recreation these white slaves had little or none; indeed, after working fourteen hours a day they were not exactly in the humor for anything of the kind. Singing-school was about the only amusement they knew, except once a year when "the circus" came to town. This was an event to which neither the millowners nor the tradesmen looked forward with any marked degree of satisfaction. The circus took too much money out of town.

HE WAS COMFORTABLE.

Negro Did Not Object to Having the Hair Singed From His Head.

No one who visits the Louisville custom house during the terms of the federal court will deny that the mountaineers are peculiar people. They are hardy, healthy, and used to all sorts of hardships. In passing through the custom house last winter I came across a negro mountaineer. Whether he was born in the mountains I did not learn, but he had lived in that part of Kentucky for so long that he was one of them truly. It was in the afternoon of one of the cold days during the first part of the week. He was in a peculiar position when I saw him and I tried to help him. He had become cold, probably from wandering around the streets, and had gone into the custom house and lain down by one of the heaters. His hat was off and his pillow was the hot pipes of the heater.

I would not have noticed him particularly had not the air been charged with an odor that smelled very much like burning hair. I looked at the negro closely. His bushy head was resting against the hot pipes and his hair was scorching. He was sleeping profoundly, unconscious, I suppose, even that he was in a big city. The perspiration was streaming down his face, and trickled off his nose and lips as he moved them with loud guttural snores. I touched my gloved hand to the heater. It was so hot I jerked it away quickly. I shook the man until he was fairly awake and told him his head was almost on fire.

"Uh! oh, dat ain't hot; it's jis comfer'ble," and his head rested back against the pipes, and he was sleeping again.

The Bridal Toll.

A curious but rather inconvenient custom of exacting toll from newly married couples appears to survive at Wisden, in England. The other day a marriage took place in the Congregational chapel, and on the happy pair emerging from the building they found their way to their waiting cab barred by a number of women, who had tied their aprons together and stretched them across the gateway. When these were satisfied with a douceur, and the cab was gained, progress was again barred by a couple of carters, who had drawn their teams across the road, and who also exacted toll. Sometimes, it appears, several cords are drawn across the road at intervals on the line of route, and the inroads on the bridegroom's purse are thus considerable.

Tricks of Desert Coyotes.

Coyotes show a strength of understanding that is sometimes alarming. Desert prospectors, like Mr. Riley, who have been often on the verge of death, tell me that when parties are lost in the wilds the coyotes persistently follow, and only when they are leading for water will these miserable creatures relinquish pursuit. The Indians of Palm Springs have a strong belief in the cleverness of coyotes, and have informed me in all seriousness that coyotes are known to steal large watermelons and roll them miles away from where the theft was committed. It is certain that coyotes, when grape hunting, only select the largest and ripest bunches, and they display this sagacity when choosing melons.

A "Blowing Cave" in Pennsylvania.

In Lancaster county, Pennsylvania, on a hilltop a short distance from York Furnace bridge, is located the famous natural "blow hole." It is not a cave, but a series of fissures in the rocks, from which a cold draft of air continually issues.

The deacon who takes up the collection in a New London, Conn., church invariably makes his announcement of the amount contributed as follows: "Dear brethren, there has been collected $10.92 (or whatever the amount happens to be), including the fifty cents which I put in."

In a Washington county, Maine, town a little while ago the local champion liar was brought up before the justice for stealing hens. It was a pretty plain case, and by the advice of his lawyers the prisoner said: "I plead guilty." This surprising answer in the place of the string of lies expected staggered the justice. He rubbed his head. "I guess—I'm afraid—well, Hiram," he said after a thoughtful pause, "I guess I'll have to have more evidence before I sentence you."

Frozen—Then on Fire.

Like the application of ice to the small of your back, is the sensation produced by the chill that precedes the fever of malaria. Then comes the roasting stage, when every vein throbs and is scorched as if with liquid fire. Then you well nigh dissolve in exhausting perspiration that leaves you as limp as a wet dish rag. These alternating torments are not remediable permanently with quinine, which is, moreover, a most damaging cumulative poison. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters drives out the foe and repels its further attacks. It is the leading medicinal safeguard against malaria all over the continent of North and South America, Guatemala, the Isthmus of Panama, Mexico and Australia. It regulates the liver, stomach, bowels and kidneys, enriches the blood, and promotes appetite, sleep and digestion. It is not only a medicine, but an effective cordial welcome to the most delicate palate. Rheumatic tendency is counteracted by it.

Here They Come!

For weeks our store has been in that condition so happily described by Charles Lamb when riding in the stage. A fellow thrust his face in and inquired, "Are you all full inside?" Lamb answered, "I don't know about the other fellows, but that last piece of pie did the business for me." So now, to him that hath, it is being added. We are daily crowding our shelves until the goods fairly hold out beseeching hands and beg to be taken hence.

These Prices Move 'Em.

They are full fashioned, regular made fast black, firm, with elastic tops; each pair is stamped "seconds," which means that now and then a thread was dropped in the knitting, the imperfections so slight in many cases that the hose have to be critically examined to discover them; just enough so that an honorable manufacturer would not offer them as perfect goods, just enough so that we would not offer them to our customers as "firsts" although many people would not notice but that the Hose were perfect. So much in explanation. Regarding price—they are 20c the pair, 3 for 50c, $1 the box—which is the way most people will buy them when they see the hose.

A NORDINANCE granting to the Wisconsin

Automatic Telephone Company the right to construct, maintain and operate a telephone system in and upon the streets of the city of Janesville.

The mayor and the common council of the city of Janesville do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. The Wisconsin Automatic Telephone Company, its successors and assigns are hereby granted the right to erect and maintain in, along and upon the streets and alleys of the city of Janesville, such poles of wood, iron or other suitable material, and such wires as may be necessary for a system of telephones and a telephone exchange in said city of Janesville, subject, however, to the provisions of the ordinance, entitled, "an ordinance to regulate the stringing of wires in the city of Janesville," passed October 10th, 1892.

SECTION 2. In consideration of this grant, the said city of Janesville shall have the right to place and string on the poles of said telephone, the fire alarm and police wires of said city.

SECTION 3. This ordinance shall be of no force or effect unless the said Telephone Company shall place its poles, at least twenty-one inches above all cross-arms, a four pin cross arm with suitable and proper glass insulators for the fire and police wires of said city. If the said city shall place its fire alarm and police wires on the poles of said telephone company as above provided, said wires shall be so placed as not to in any way obstruct or interfere with the use of the wires of said telephone company and such fire alarm and police wires shall be maintained and kept in repair by said city so long as such wires are kept on the poles of said Telephone Company.

SECTION 4. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and publication, which publication shall be for three successive days.

IS DEATH PROOF AND HAS NO FEAR?

A NEW YORK CENTRAL ENGINEER'S MANY ESCAPES.

James Donahoe Seems to Bear a Charmed Life—In Half a Dozen Wrecks Without the Slightest Injury Befalling Him.

HERE IS ONE man in the service of the New York Central and Hudson River railroad who may truly be said to bear a charmed life. His name is James Donahoe, whose home is at Albany, N. Y. Donahoe has the reputation of being a good engineer, but he has been in more accidents and wrecks and has escaped with fewer injuries than any other engineer on the road.

The fact that he still holds his position is a proof that none of the accidents was due to his carelessness or recklessness.

The last accident in which Donahoe was involved happened at the second tower below Sing Sing recently. It was a very foggy morning, and Donahoe was bound south with the special American express, consisting of eleven cars, to which was attached his engine, No. 801, and engine No. 49, the latter in charge of Engineer

ENGINEER JAMES DONAHOE.

Decker of Poughkeepsie. The train was a little late and good time was being made, when, a short distance above where the accident occurred, the coupling between the two locomotives broke and Decker's engine dashed ahead. The fog was so thick that Donahoe did not miss Decker's engine, and did not dream of peril until he collided with it. Decker had slowed down when he found his engine detached from Donahoe's.

The force of the collision was terrific. Donahoe's engine was derailed and ran over four hundred feet along the ties, when it plunged into the river, dragging two cars with it. Donahoe could not have reversed his lever, or, if he did, it must have got jammed, for the engine wheels kept on turning until steam was exhausted. The engine was badly broken up.

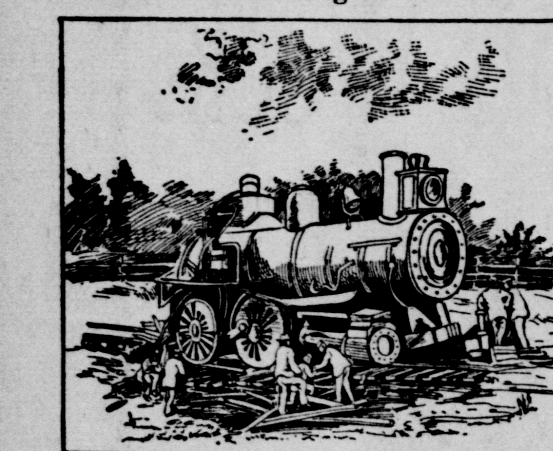

Donahoe did not jump, but stuck to his post, and when found was jammed in the coal, which had been hurled forward against the boiler. When pulled out he was found to have escaped without a scratch.

Donahoe was suspended, but was restored to duty a few days later. Those who visited the scene of the wreck while the work of pulling his engine out of the river was in progress were mystified how Donahoe escaped being killed.

But this is not the only narrow escape Engineer Donahoe has had. He was in charge of the engine that dashed into the rear of the Niagara Falls express, at Hastings, Christmas eve, 1891, when a dozen persons were killed and many injured. Among the former was Editor John R. Bagnall of the Poughkeepsie Star. In the same wreck Mrs. Homer Baldwin was frightfully injured and disfigured for life.

Donahoe left New York that Christmas eve at 8 o'clock with the St. Louis express. Half an hour previously the Niagara Falls express had pulled out. It was signaled above Hastings, and came to a standstill, Rear brakeman Albert Herrick of Staatsburg being sent back to signal any train coming north.

In a recent trial of the suit to recover $5,000 damages from the railroad company, Messrs. Wilkinson & Cosum, counsel for the defense, called Donahoe to the stand, and he put the blame entirely on Herrick's shoulders; it was shown he did not flag Donahoe nor put torpedoes on the track, and that he allowed Donahoe to rush ahead and bring death to over a dozen people, while many more suffered untold agonies. Donahoe in this case also stuck to his engine.

ONE OF HIS WRECKED ENGINES.

Not long after the Hastings wreck Donahoe ran into a Peekskill local at Tarrytown, injuring several passengers. This accident, like the others, was proven to have occurred through no fault of his.

Altogether, Donahoe is said to have been in fourteen wrecks; he is as sound and strong to-day as he was before he went on the road, and if his past experience has any promise for the future, he will not die with his boots on. Most engineers, after one or two thrilling experiences, lose their nerve, but Donahoe is said by his friends to be as good an engineer as there is on the road.

The many wrecks out of which he has come unharmed have caused some of the superstitious old railroaders to believe that he is "hoodooed." In all the serious accidents in which he has been concerned he has stood manfully by his post, and when the crash came he has been in the thickest of it.

MOLECULES IN MATTER.

A Theory Which Seems Difficult to Accept.

It seems a difficult undertaking to accept the theory that granite, glass and precious stones, not excepting diamonds, are composed of independent particles that are continually in exceedingly rapid motion. These active molecules are said to rotate and swing around a central point with such force and rapidity that they constitute, to all intents and purpose, a solid mass. Upon being divided, they whirl around a new center as rapidly as before, the molecules passing a given point some millions of times in a second of time. This theory would at first glance seem incompatible with the well understood belief in the hardness and impenetrability of the diamond, but this is easily explained. The almost incalculable rate of speed drives the atoms against the drill or cutting edge that seeks to penetrate it, and dulls it without permitting it to make the slightest impression. On this theory, it appears that glass cutting is merely the bringing together of two bodies consisting of molecules moving at different velocities. As a matter of course, the most powerful atoms break up the softer ones, and so this operation is merely a war of particles, in which the superior force is triumphant.

BANK OF ENGLAND.

"The Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" Is Very Old Indeed.

Just what the "irregularities" are that have lately put the credit of the Bank of England in question will perhaps never be precisely known to the general public. "The Old Lady of Threadneedle Street" is not telling the public any more about her affairs than she has to, and beyond the announcement that the cashier, Frank May, has been compelled to resign because of the bank's dissatisfaction with his way of doing business, the public is told nothing. Even the conservative and reticent Times of London doesn't quite like this phase of the matter and urgently advised the bank authorities to make known exactly on what basis the compromising rumors rested.

This bank, which is the most important in the world, was projected by William Paterson and was incorporated July 27, 1694. It was constituted as a joint-stock association, with a capital of $1,200,000, which was lent at 8 per cent interest to the government of William and Mary, at the time in a state of embarrassment. At its very outset, therefore, the Bank of England was a servant of the government; and it has retained this character, but in a diminishing degree, through all the stages of its subsequent history. At first the charter of the bank was for eleven years only; but in consequence of the great services of the institution to the government, its charter has been at various times renewed. The last renewal was in 1844, and the charter of that year still subsists, its terms being subject to modification or revocation by the legislature at pleasure.

THE LOYSONS.

Portraits of an Ex-Priest, His Wife and Son.

Madame Hyacinthe Loyson, wife of the celebrated Charles Loyson, familiar to the world as Pere Hyacinthe, has arrived in this country on a mission in connection with the work of herself and her husband in France. Madame Loyson is an American by birth, and was for many years a communicant of Henry Ward Beecher's church in Brooklyn. Her first husband was Capt. Merriam of Ohio. After his death she went abroad, and while in Rome espoused the Roman Catholic faith. She quickly developed into a politician, however, and entered into the controversy between the ultramontanes or Jesuits and the Jesuits. She was much sought after, and had matured the plans for a woman's college at Rome when there appeared on the scene the broad-shouldered, sweetvoiced Pere Hyacinthe, who became enamored of the brilliant American, and his affection proved reciprocal.

FATHER, MOTHER AND SON.

The priest finally renounced the deep asceticism of the barefooted Carmelite friar and married the woman of his choice. It is hardly necessary to add that the marriage shocked the Catholic world, and the press of Europe was outspoken in its condemnation.

A Hotel that Cost $7,000,000.

The Palace hotel at San Francisco cost about $7,000,000, and accommodates 1,200 guests.

True to Life.

A friend of the late R. M. Ballantyne, the well known author of boys' books of adventure, says that he always got his material from first hands. His first story, "The Young Fur Traders," he wrote after spending six years in the wilderness of North America. He went to Algiers and wrote "The Pirate City;" he spent a couple of weeks on the North Sea with the deep sea fishermen, and wrote "The Young Trawler;" he sat up for a fortnight or so with the London firemen, and went out in costume to a fire almost every night, and then produced "Fighting the Flames" and "Life in the Red Brigade." Again, Ballantyne lived a couple of weeks in the Bell Rock lighthouse, and the result was "The Lighthouse;" he spent a similar period on the lightship off the Goodwin Sands, and wrote "The Floating Light;" and he went down the deepest of the tin mines, and the sequel was "Deep Down; A Tale of the Cornish Mines."

Von Bulow's Memory.

A young composer called on Von Bulow, one day, to get his opinion of a piano-forte concerto. Von Bulow declared he was too busy at the moment, but promised to look at it at his leisure. That same evening, at a party, Von Bulow was asked to play, and to the amazement of the young composer, who happened to be present, he sat down and played the entire concerto from memory. When he was director of the famous Meiningen orchestra, not content with conducting without a score, he endeavored, though without success, to induce the members of his band to learn their music by heart. Both in physique and in temperament Von Bulow was much more like a Frenchman than a German, and many of his witticisms were full of true Gallic esprit.

G.A.R. NOTICE

We take this opportunity of informing our subscribers that the new Commissioner of Pensions has been appointed. He is an old soldier, and we believe that soldiers and their heirs will receive justice at his hands. We do not anticipate that there will be any radical changes in the administration of pension affairs under the new regime.

We would advise, however, that U. S. soldiers, sailors, and their heirs, take steps to make application at once, if they have not already done so, in order to secure the benefit of the early filing of their claims in case there should be any future pension legislation. Such legislation is seldom retroactive. Therefore it is of great importance that applications be filed in the department at the earliest possible date.

If U. S. soldiers, or their widows, children, or parents desire information in regard to pension matters, they should write to the Press Claims Company at Washington, D. C., and they will prepare and send the necessary application, if they find them entitled under the numerous laws enacted for their benefit. Address:

Press Claims Company,

JOHN WEDDERBURN,
Washington, D. C. Managing Attorney
P. O. Box 385.
